Support Services

- Laura Stein, CFO, was a finalist in the Charlotte Business Journal's 2020 CFO of the Year award.
- Administrative Assistant, Anne Christiansen, surpassed her 20th anniversary as well.
- Our President/CEO Will Jones received the Charlotte Business Journal's Most Admired CEO award for nonprofit organizations.
- Not only did we have a fantastic end to the 2019-2020 fiscal year, and impacted more children and families than ever before – our partners Curran & Curran were named a Graphic Design Awards Winner – for our impact report. See for yourself here.

ABOUT DANIEL

Daniel loves art and wants to paint murals – he's a natural. Painting is also sometimes an escape from the struggles he faces. He was living with his grandparents; however after assaulting his grandmother he was forced to move to Charlotte to live with his mother and siblings. These aggressive outbursts continued, and he also began a pattern of property damage. His distress led to several hospitalizations due to attempts to harm himself, or others.

DANIEL'S JOURNEY

Daniel and his family first received Intensive In-home therapy to work on more positive behavior, and then Daniel started in our RISE program. Daniel's success has been based on our therapists building a relationship of trust with him – being a consistent, reliable source of support that holds him accountable – coaching him towards better life skills to help him attain his goals.

'Daniel struggled with maintaining healthy relationships. He is working towards making positive changes and becoming more mature.' – Daniel's RISE coach
